

Editorial

Photographers or filmmakers were always inspired by their travels. The collections of the French Stereo Club or those of its members should be more widely brought to the attention of persons caring for geography and history, starting with our members, whether amateurs or professionals.

Furthermore, stereoscopy is a passion that we can share beyond borders, and thus confront our views of the wide World with those of the persons we meet in our travels.

With this dual perspective, the administrative board decided to create a Heritage & Travel group. This group mission will be to collect and to promote the pictures and movies focusing on the various aspects of heritage - geographical, historical, artistic, cultural, environmental, ethnological, etc.- from Club members and from their local contacts.

These productions will have to be stereoscopic and sufficiently documented. The French Stereo Club should be granted a copyright in his publications (currently this Newsletter and his website). Any other use should be subject to special agreements, preserving of course the right of authors.

J.-Yves Gresser will lead the group. Do not hesitate to contact him right now, if you wish to participate in the collection and selection of heritage and travel pictures and movies or just to share your projects, your productions or your finds.

Given the need for preservation and publication, the group will work in close cooperation with the webmaster, especially in the framework of the future Club Virtual Media Library, and with the chief-editor of the Newsletter
